

We at Mitt Arv (www.mittarv.com) are working on normalizing talking about the one sure shot event in everyone's life – death. Death is certain but the timing is uncertain. People do not plan for death and live as if tomorrow is forever, which makes them not plan for their assets and they also fail to create a financial will. An even immediate problem is that the family and loved ones are not aware of assets held by an individual and often, end up being unclaimed assets (by certain estimates, India has more than 80,000 Crore rupees of unclaimed money). The only industry which has really cracked this is Insurance – that too not to the best extent.

Our north star goal is to be a provider of technology products to help people plan for death and become a marketplace for products around that which require human interface (for example insurance claim assistance etc)

We are a fully bootstrapped start up with founder working in Big tech and based in Singapore. We have established entities in Singapore and development centre in India. We currently are staffed with leadership team working part time for sweat equity, 3 full time employees and 10 interns.

We are looking for UI & UX Designer Interns. We are looking for a minimum commitment of 20 hours per week for a period of 6 months.
